

FRUITS

from the

FOREST

Did you know, not all nuts are from the trees? It's true! Well, some are credited to come in soil form. Right from the earth.

Peanuts are technically in the legumes family, although they frequently deserve an honorable mention. Peanuts are also an allergy to some humans. Not squirrels!

Have a look at Wingnut. They also deserve an honorable mention! Keeping the forest floor clear of those dangerous acorns and protecting hike trails, too! Some people are fearful, others are thankful. So wave to a brave valiant squirrel ASAP!

(Placed in order of appearance -)

- | | | | |
|-----------------|----------------------|---------------|------------------|
| Acorn | Beechnut | Cashew | Candlenut |
| Almond | Gingko Biloba | | |
| Chestnut | Hickory | Kola | Macadamia |
| Hazelnut | Pecan | Pine | Pistachio |
| Palm | | | |

...The hungry fellow is Wingnut.